S-1254 Division of Repatriation and Welfare - Reports by Country 1943-1949

Scope and Content

The Welfare Divisions of UNRRA was organized in Feb. 1944. Its internal organization at this time consisted of an Administrative Branch and a Research and Planning Branch. At the same time there was established a Displaced Persons Division.

On 3 May 1945, the functional Divisions of Welfare, Health and Displaced Persons, originally responsible directly to the Director General, were transferred to the Bureau of Services. At the same time the functions of the Camps Division of the Bureau of Areas were transferred to the Displaced Persons Division and the Welfare Division in ERO was abolished. On 13 April 1946, the Welfare Division merged with the Displaced Persons Division to form the Division of Repatriation and Welfare, which included 3 branches: the Reports and Records Branch, the Program Planning Branch, and the Operations Branch. Myer Cohen became the Director of this newly formed Division. In Sept. 1946 the Division was shorn of its welfare functions and became the Division of Repatriation; in Dec. 1946 it was merged with the Bureau of Services.

At various times, the welfare and displaced persons functions included the following:

Provided the basic necessities of life during emergency periods, including temporary mass feeding, temporary shelter, and direct distribution of supplies.

Ensured simple and fair procedures for determining which individuals and families were entitled to receive free supplies and services; ensured that the methods of distribution provided ready access to the supplies and services for all those who were entitled to receive them.

Organized special relief and rehabilitational services for individuals, families or groups who required particular types of assistance. Such services included day nurseries, foster home placement, institutional care and services, individual or family counseling, occupational training etc.

Reviewed requests for and made recommendations concerning supplies, equipment, and other facilities needed to carry out the functions listed above.

Coordinated and regulated the activities of voluntary organizations interested in carrying out relief and rehabilitation programs overseas, in so far as these responsibilities had been delegated to the Administration by member governments.

Reviewed camp management operations and provided technical advice on the management of camps; determined supply requirements of camps and policies affecting camps.

Arranged for the identification and registration of displaced persons, and for their care and repatriation or return to place of former residence.

S-1255 Division of Repatriation and Welfare - Reports Files 1943-1949

Scope and Content

The Welfare Divisions of UNRRA was organized in Feb. 1944. Its internal organization at this time consisted of an Administrative Branch and a Research and Planning Branch. At the same time there was established a Displaced Persons Division.

On 3 May 1945, the functional Divisions of Welfare, Health and Displaced Persons, originally responsible directly to the Director General, were transferred to the Bureau of Services. At the same time the functions of the Camps Division of the Bureau of Areas were transferred to the Displaced Persons Division and the Welfare Division in ERO was abolished. On 13 April 1946, the Welfare Division merged with the Displaced Persons Division to form the Division of Repatriation and Welfare, which included 3 branches: the Reports and Records Branch, the Program Planning Branch, and the Operations Branch. Myer Cohen became the Director of this newly formed Division. In Sept. 1946 the Division was shorn of its welfare functions and became the Division of Repatriation; in Dec. 1946 it was merged with the Bureau of Services.

At various times, the welfare and displaced persons functions included the following:

Provided the basic necessities of life during emergency periods, including temporary mass feeding, temporary shelter, and direct distribution of supplies.

Ensured simple and fair procedures for determining which individuals and families were entitled to receive free supplies and services; ensured that the methods of distribution provided ready access to the supplies and services for all those who were entitled to receive them.

Organized special relief and rehabilitational services for individuals, families or groups who required particular types of assistance. Such services included day nurseries, foster home placement, institutional care and services, individual or family counseling, occupational training etc.

Reviewed requests for and made recommendations concerning supplies, equipment, and other facilities needed to carry out the functions listed above.

Coordinated and regulated the activities of voluntary organizations interested in carrying out relief and rehabilitation programs overseas, in so far as these responsibilities had been delegated to the Administration by member governments.

Reviewed camp management operations and provided technical advice on the management of camps; determined supply requirements of camps and policies affecting camps.

Arranged for the identification and registration of displaced persons, and for their care and repatriation or return to place of former residence.

Scope and Content

The Welfare Divisions of UNRRA was organized in Feb. 1944. Its internal organization at this time consisted of an Administrative Branch and a Research and Planning Branch. At the same time there was established a Displaced Persons Division.

On 3 May 1945, the functional Divisions of Welfare, Health and Displaced Persons, originally responsible directly to the Director General, were transferred to the Bureau of Services. At the same time the functions of the Camps Division of the Bureau of Areas were transferred to the Displaced Persons Division and the Welfare Division in ERO was abolished. On 13 April 1946, the Welfare Division merged with the Displaced Persons Division to form the Division of Repatriation and Welfare, which included 3 branches: the Reports and Records Branch, the Program Planning Branch, and the Operations Branch. Myer Cohen became the Director of this newly formed Division. In Sept. 1946 the Division was shorn of its welfare functions and became the Division of Repatriation; in Dec. 1946 it was merged with the Bureau of Services.

At various times, the welfare and displaced persons functions included the following:

Provided the basic necessities of life during emergency periods, including temporary mass feeding, temporary shelter, and direct distribution of supplies.

Ensured simple and fair procedures for determining which individuals and families were entitled to receive free supplies and services; ensured that the methods of distribution provided ready access to the supplies and services for all those who were entitled to receive them.

Organized special relief and rehabilitational services for individuals, families or groups who required particular types of assistance. Such services included day nurseries, foster home placement, institutional care and services, individual or family counseling, occupational training etc.

Reviewed requests for and made recommendations concerning supplies, equipment, and other facilities needed to carry out the functions listed above.

Coordinated and regulated the activities of voluntary organizations interested in carrying out relief and rehabilitation programs overseas, in so far as these responsibilities had been delegated to the Administration by member governments.

Reviewed camp management operations and provided technical advice on the management of camps; determined supply requirements of camps and policies affecting camps.

Arranged for the identification and registration of displaced persons, and for their care and repatriation or return to place of former residence.

S-1257 Division of Repatriation and Welfare - Studies of Migration and Settlement 1943-1949

Scope and Content

The Welfare Divisions of UNRRA was organized in Feb. 1944. Its internal organization at this time consisted of an Administrative Branch and a Research and Planning Branch. At the same time there was established a Displaced Persons Division.

On 3 May 1945, the functional Divisions of Welfare, Health and Displaced Persons, originally responsible directly to the Director General, were transferred to the Bureau of Services. At the same time the functions of the Camps Division of the Bureau of Areas were transferred to the Displaced Persons Division and the Welfare Division in ERO was abolished. On 13 April 1946, the Welfare Division merged with the Displaced Persons

Division to form the Division of Repatriation and Welfare, which included 3 branches: the Reports and Records Branch, the Program Planning Branch, and the Operations Branch. Myer Cohen became the Director of this newly formed Division. In Sept. 1946 the Division was shorn of its welfare functions and became the Division of Repatriation; in Dec. 1946 it was merged with the Bureau of Services.

At various times, the welfare and displaced persons functions included the following:

Provided the basic necessities of life during emergency periods, including temporary mass feeding, temporary shelter, and direct distribution of supplies.

Ensured simple and fair procedures for determining which individuals and families were entitled to receive free supplies and services; ensured that the methods of distribution provided ready access to the supplies and services for all those who were entitled to receive them.

Organized special relief and rehabilitational services for individuals, families or groups who required particular types of assistance. Such services included day nurseries, foster home placement, institutional care and services, individual or family counseling, occupational training etc.

Reviewed requests for and made recommendations concerning supplies, equipment, and other facilities needed to carry out the functions listed above.

Coordinated and regulated the activities of voluntary organizations interested in carrying out relief and rehabilitation programs overseas, in so far as these responsibilities had been delegated to the Administration by member governments.

Reviewed camp management operations and provided technical advice on the management of camps; determined supply requirements of camps and policies affecting camps.

Arranged for the identification and registration of displaced persons, and for their care and repatriation or return to place of former residence.

Scope and Content

The Welfare Divisions of UNRRA was organized in Feb. 1944. Its internal organization at this time consisted of an Administrative Branch and a Research and Planning Branch. At the same time there was established a Displaced Persons Division.

On 3 May 1945, the functional Divisions of Welfare, Health and Displaced Persons, originally responsible directly to the Director General, were transferred to the Bureau of Services. At the same time the functions of the Camps Division of the Bureau of Areas were transferred to the Displaced Persons Division and the Welfare Division in ERO was abolished. On 13 April 1946, the Welfare Division merged with the Displaced Persons Division to form the Division of Repatriation and Welfare, which included 3 branches: the Reports and Records Branch, the Program Planning Branch, and the Operations Branch. Myer Cohen became the Director of this newly formed Division. In Sept. 1946 the Division was shorn of its welfare functions and became the Division of Repatriation; in Dec. 1946 it was merged with the Bureau of Services.

At various times, the welfare and displaced persons functions included the following:

Provided the basic necessities of life during emergency periods, including temporary mass feeding, temporary shelter, and direct distribution of supplies.

Ensured simple and fair procedures for determining which individuals and families were entitled to receive free supplies and services; ensured that the methods of distribution provided ready access to the supplies and services for all those who were entitled to receive them.

Organized special relief and rehabilitational services for individuals, families or groups who required particular types of assistance. Such services included day nurseries, foster home placement, institutional care and services, individual or family counseling, occupational training etc.

Reviewed requests for and made recommendations concerning supplies, equipment, and other facilities needed to carry out the functions listed above.

Coordinated and regulated the activities of voluntary organizations interested in carrying out relief and rehabilitation programs overseas, in so far as these responsibilities had been delegated to the Administration by member governments.

Reviewed camp management operations and provided technical advice on the management of camps; determined supply requirements of camps and policies affecting camps.

Arranged for the identification and registration of displaced persons, and for their care and repatriation or return to place of former residence.

S-1314 Administration and Procurement (1944-1947)

Administrative History

From 15 October 1944 Dr. J.M. Vine was attached to the SHAEF Mission in the capacity of Liaison Officer between UNRRA and the Belgian Government - at that time liaison only with the Ministry of Health. The UNRRA Mission to Belgium was established, with Mr. W.P. Wrathall as Chief of Mission, in May 1945. Its main activities were recruitment of Belgian personnel and later the procurement and shipment of supplies.

In October 1945 a Communications Centre was established in Brussels, for the distribution of mail and as a base for courier services; it received assistance from the Mission but was independent of its control.

In April 1946, the recruitment and general activities of the Mission had largely ceased, and the work that remained was chiefly the distribution of supplies under the SURPROP scheme.

The Mission to Belgium closed down on 31 March 1947.

Administrative History

The UNRRA Mission to Byelorussia was established in Minsk in April 1946, and was entirely concerned with the receipt and distribution of relief supplies. The procurement programme was negotiated with representatives of the Byelorussian Government in Washington and London, and was not handled by the Mission. The Government also made and carried out all arrangements for final distribution, liaison being maintained through the UNRRA Supplies Administration created for the purpose, and attached to the Council of Ministers.

Certain supplies ordered from Britain by the USSR during the war, and in some cases delivered before the establishment of UNRRA, were transferred to the UNRRA programme for Byelorussia to assist in its fulfillment by the end of 1946. This however proved impossible, and the Mission continued to work till the middle of 1947.

The Port Office attached to the Mission was at Odessa. It worked in a dual capacity in as much as it also served the Ukraine Mission.

The Mission to Byelorussia closed on 30 June 1947.

AG-018-016 Czechoslovakia Mission 1943-1949

Scope and Content

The records in each subject series generally include correspondence and working papers filed together. The names of the divisions in this list have, in some cases, been chosen from several variations appearing in the records.

Administrative History

The civil authorities of Czechoslovakia having, by agreement with the USSR in May 1944, taken over the administration of the country immediately on liberation, there was no intervening period of military administration. In February 1945 an agreement providing for aid, was signed by UNRRA and the Czech Government, followed in April by another agreement relative to administrative services, but a supplementary agreement was abandoned.

The UNRRA Mission to Czechoslovakia was established in Prague in June 1945, with Peter I. Alekseev as Chief of Mission. The main functions of the Mission were advisory, liaison, and the distribution of supplies; relief operations by voluntary agencies were under government control and not supervised by UNRRA.

All contacts between the Mission and the Czech Government were made through the Czechoslovak Office of Relief and Rehabilitation, which was established as an inter-ministerial office for that purpose in June 1945. An UNRRA unit was formed in each Ministry concerned with UNRRA aid, and working parties of representatives of the Office and the Mission were formed to deal with the various types of aid, and each separate commodity.

- S-1341 Reports (1945-1947)
- S-1342 Financial and Accounting files (1945-1947)

Administrative History

In May 1945 an UNRRA Liaison Officer was attached to the Headquarters of the liberating forces entering Denmark. In June a survey was made and in July 1945 the Mission was established, an agreement between UNRRA and the Danish Government being signed shortly afterwards.

The main functions of the Mission in the early days were in connection with displaced persons and the recruitment of Danish personnel for Displaced Persons Operations in Germany. At a later date the Mission was engaged almost entirely on the procurement of supplies for relief programmes in other countries. The Mission was under the control of European Relief Organisation.

Administrative History

After the liberation of the Dodecanese from the Germans, a British Military Administration took over the government of the Islands in May 1945. It established a rationing system for food, clothes and petrol, and submitted a programme of requirements to UNRRA Headquarters through the European Regional Office. This programme was not acted upon, however, until it had later been reviewed and resubmitted by the UNRRA Mission.

An agreement with the Director of Civil Affairs, War Office, on behalf of the British Military Administration, Dodecanese, was signed on 1 August 1945. It provided for immediate shipment of relief supplies financed by UNRRA, but procured and shipped by the British Military Administration until UNRRA could assume these responsibilities.

The Mission was established in Rhodes in October 1945, and its first supplies arrived in February 1946, some previous BMA shipments having been financed by UNRRA. Welfare Officers were stationed on all of the larger islands, in addition to the Chief Welfare Officer in Rhodes. Food supplies were generally sold, the proceeds of sale going in part to provide cash relief for those unable to pay the fixed prices of UNRRA supplies. This cash relief work was largely administered by the Mission's Welfare Officers, in co-operation with BMA and Relief Sub-Committees, these latter being branches of the Central Relief Committee in Rhodes and including representatives of all the communities in each area.

In November 1946 the Dodecanese Welfare Association was formed for the purpose of administering the proceeds of sale of UNRRA supplies after the closure of the Mission in May 1947 until the transfer of the Islands to Greece in March 1948.

AG-018-019 Ethiopia Mission 1944-1949

Scope and Content

The records include few directly related to supply programmes, as many of these had been prepared during closure, and not in the course of supply operations. A monograph and report on supply documentation will be found in Office of the Historian files. In Headquarters Central Registry files, will be found monthly reports and a general directive for the Mission.

Administrative History

An exploratory mission visited Ethiopia in December 1944, to investigate and report on the needs of the country, and make recommendations for the proposed UNRRA mission.

The main UNRRA Mission arrived in Addis Ababa in January 1946, but the agreement with Ethiopia was not signed until July 1946 Willard Z. Park was the Chief of Mission, with the responsibility of distributing relief and rehabilitation supplies as a main function of the Mission. These supplies were mostly for training purposes and for the equipment of public welfare institutions. The Ethiopia Mission, unlike others, did not originally transfer supplies to the government, but distributed them direct to agencies and organizations on requisition. This policy was altered in May 1947, at the start of the closure period, and arrangements were made for distribution to take place through the government. Over two thirds of all supplies were distributed after closure had begun.

AG-018-021 Offices in France 1943-1949

Scope and Content

The records described in the attached list are only a small proportion of the voluminous files that were accumulated in the several Paris offices. Many of them - those dealing with routine matters and the details of transactions, such as travel arrangements, messing lists, shipping receipts, and local personnel records - have been destroyed, either by UNRRA or subsequently by the United Nations. Operating files and some administrative materials pertaining to relief services and displaced persons work were turned over to PCIRO and are presumably now to be found among the IRQ records in the Archives Nationales, Paris. Other displaced persons files, which had been in Paris only briefly while the DP Central Headquarters was there, are now among the records of the Germany Mission.

Administrative History

Since France was a contributor to UNRRA rather than a receiving country, there was no need for a typical mission office to carry on supply and welfare work. UNRRA nevertheless carried on many activities in France, and several different offices existed. Most of the remaining records of all of them are grouped here.

The France Mission was established late in 1944, primarily to maintain liaison with the French Government and with SHAEF. It soon assumed responsibility also for the recruitment of personnel for displaced persons operations in Germany. When, in the spring of 1945, the Mobilization and Training Centre at Granville (later Haaren) began sending large numbers of newly recruited UNRRA workers through Paris into Germany and other European countries, it became the Mission's responsibility to make their travel arrangements and to billet and feed them in Paris. Another important duty was acquired in March 1946, when Surplus Procurement Operations, hitherto responsible directly to Headquarters, was placed under the administrative control of the Mission. The France Mission was formally closed on 28 February 1947.

The Administrative Base, Granville, France was established in February 1945 for the purpose of receiving, equipping, training, and sending onward the staff that was rapidly being recruited for displaced persons work in Germany, Austria, and, to a lesser extent, other European countries. The base was moved in September 1945 to Holland and was renamed the Mobilization and Training Centre, Haaren, Holland. At the end of January 1946, its work accomplished, the centre was liquidated, a few of its activities being taken over by Displaced Persons Operations Headquarters in Germany.

The Department of Surplus Property (SURPROP) originated as the Surplus Procurement Office, Paris, in August 1945. With primary responsibility for acquiring surplus property (mostly from the U.S. Army) and moving it to receiving countries, the office operated under the direction of Washington headquarters until 15 March 1946, when it became administratively a department of the France Mission. Upon the liquidation of the Mission a year later, the Records and Control Division and the Accounts Division of SURPROP became part of the Mission Closure Office.

Paris was the headquarters of several different closure and liquidation offices, whose functions, organizational status, and records were somewhat confused even at the time.

The first of these, the France Mission Closure Office, succeeded the France Mission on 1 March 1947 Including the remaining units of SURPROP, it was responsible operationally to the European Regional Office and administratively to Displaced Persons Central Headquarters, Paris. It appears to have been superseded at the end of June 1947 by the UNRRA Closure Staff-Paris.

Displaced Persons Central Headquarters in Europe and the Middle East was set up in Paris on 15 February 1947 to succeed the former Central Headquarters at Arolsen, Germany, and to combine the control of all displaced persons work in the specified areas during the run-down period when preparations were being made for transfer of these responsibilities to the new International Refugee Organization. The new Paris office also took, charge of the home accounting functions of the recently closed Missions in Norway, Denmark, Holland, Belgium, and France. It was formally closed on 30 June 1947, when the displaced persons work was taken over by the new PCIRO.

A Closure Staff-Paris was set up on 1 July 1947 to continue those liquidation responsibilities remaining to UNRRA. On 11 July the office was renamed UNRRA Closure, Paris and Germany, and its functions were outlined. Its subordinate offices consisted of the Chief of the Closure Staff-Paris, the Surplus Disposals Officer, the Director of SURPROP, Paris and the Closure Officers of the three zones of Germany. During the ensuing months these offices were rapidly disbanded as they completed their work, and the last of them, the Surplus Disposals Office, closed on 6 February 1948.

When the Preparatory Commission of the International Refugee Organization succeeded UNRRA on 1 July 1947 a Field Liaison Centre, PCIRO, was set up in Paris, and many UNRRA workers were transferred to it. It was engaged principally in facilitating the transfer of displaced persons work to the new PCIRO organization, whose headquarters was in Geneva. The Paris office was formally closed on 15 August 1947 and finally liquidated about the middle of September, 1947.

Administrative History

The first plans for a programme of relief and rehabilitation in Greece were prepared in the summer of 1944 at Cairo, headquarters of the Balkan Mission. After the liberation of Greece, the first group of UNRRA officials was ready in October 1944 to go into Athens and start assisting the Anglo-American Military Liaison of the British Government in its relief work, but the outbreak of civil war in Greece delayed operations in that country until January 1945. In the meantime, negotiations went on between UNRRA and the Military Liaison for the handover of all relief activities to the former. An agreement was signed on 1 April 1945, the date on which UNRRA officially started operations in Greece. Meanwhile, the Balkan Mission, whose purposes had been achieved with the establishment of three Missions, in Greece, Albania and Yugoslavia, was liquidated (March 1945). The Greece Mission reported at first directly to Washington and later (after May 1945) to the European Regional Office in London.

Although limited by the agreement with the Greek Government (March 1945) to provision of supplies, technical assistance and advise, the UNRRA Mission in Greece did in fact engage in much distribution and rehabilitation operational work, until at least the summer of 1946. The normal channel of cooperation between the Mission and the Government was the Joint Policy Committee with four subcommittees. There were, in addition, numerous local committees in the work of which UNRRA personnel participated.

The Mission activities were at the peak during April-May 1946 after which they gradually declined. Liquidation plans were made in July 1946, and transfer of residuary operations and surplus property to the Greek Government started in the autumn. By January 1947 only a skeleton office remained in Athens for closure purposes. The Mission was officially closed on 30 June 1947.

The Greece Mission had a headquarters office at Athens, nine regional offices at Athens, Patras, Iannina, Thessalonika, Volos, Mytileni, Kavalla Syros and Khania. The headquarters office was organized as follows: I. Office of the Chief, to which were attached the offices of Public Information, Government Liaison and of Economic Analysis and Financial Adviser; II. Bureau of Supply and Distribution with the following Divisions: 1. Procurement and Coordination, 2. Clothing, Textile and Footwear, 3. Industrial Rehabilitation, 4. Food, 5. Agriculture and Fisheries, and 6. Traffic; III. Bureau of Relief Services, with a Section for Liaison with Voluntary Societies and two Divisions, viz. Welfare and Repatriation, and Health; . IV. Bureau of Finance and Administration under the Deputy Chief of Mission and consisting of the Office of Legal Adviser and the following Divisions: 1. Finance, 2. Accounts and Audit, 3 Personnel and Training, 4. Administrative Services, 5. Management and Budget, and 6. Administrative Transport. There were several changes in organization; however, the above may be taken as the stable organization which the records generally follow.

AG-018-023 Hungary Mission 1944-1949

Scope and Content

This Sub-Fonds consists of the following series: S-1386 Hungary mission (1946-1947)

Administrative History

The development of an UNRRA program for Hungary was delayed for some months after the assumption of control by the Allied Control Commission in March 1945. The early offers of assistance were rejected on the ground that there was no necessity for UNRRA aid in this ex-enemy country. By the beginning of 1946 the need was clearly evident, however, and in answer to a formal request from the Hungarian Government, the UNRRA Central Committee on 4 February 1946 authorized a $4 million emergency relief program.

A small mission arrived on 11 April. Their work was directed mainly toward the provision of emergency food supplies, medical supplies, and clothing, and they leaned heavily on the existing governmental and private agencies for cooperation in planning and handling their procurement and distribution work. A series of committees containing representatives of various interested government departments was organized for the purpose.

The work of the Mission was essentially completed by the end of 1946 and the office was closed on 31 May 1947.

Administrative History

The government of the Grand Duchy of Luxembourg returned to the country in September 1944. The UNRRA Mission was established in October of that year.

The government had requested UNRRA assistance with problems of health, welfare, and displaced persons, and the appointment of UNRRA liaison officers to assist in obtaining supplies and industrial rehabilitation materials. Little was accomplished in connection with this latter undertaking, however, the greater part of the Mission's work being devoted to the problems of social welfare and displaced persons, including Polish nationals under contract to work in Luxembourg.

The arrangements for supplies were made as part of the Belgian Mission import programme, and it was at first proposed that the Luxembourg and Belgian Missions should be administered jointly, though this was found to be impractical.

Administrative History

On 27 September 1944, Dudley Ward, Acting Chairman of the Administrative Council, ERO, sent a letter to Trygve Lie, Norwegian Foreign Minister, in exile, asking whether the exiled government would accept an UNRRA mission upon Norway's liberation from the Nazi's occupation. A favourable reply was received on 12 October 1944, and the Mission was organized and sent to Oslo on 31 May 1945.

The original object of the Mission was to maintain liaison with the Norwegian Government in order to provide such assistance as might be requested for relief of victims of the war in Norway. The Government did not request UNRRA aid, however, and the Mission devoted itself to liaison with the Government in order to assist in the administration of the Norwegian contribution to UNRRA and the recruitment of Norwegian nationals for service with UNRRA. On 13 December 1945, the Minister of Foreign Affairs informed the Mission Chief that the Government felt no further assistance was needed from UNRRA, and it was suggested that the Mission close as of 31 January 1946. After further negotiations, it was agreed that a smaller liaison mission remain in Norway for a limited period to advise the Government on supply matters.

The Mission closed on 23 May 1947.

Administrative History

Plans to rehabilitate Poland began during the summer of 1944. In the beginning UNRRA negotiated with the Polish Exile Government in London, whose representatives were active participants in the First Council Sessions. In July 1944 USSR announced that the Polish Committee of National Liberation was taking over the administration of Liberated Poland. This complicated matters for UNRRA which had to preserve its neutrality between the London and Lublin officials. The situation was cleared, however, when in July 1945 the U.S. and U.K. Governments accorded formal recognition to a reconstituted Government, the Polish Provisional Government of National Unity.

In March 1945 Michail A. Menshikov, then the Deputy Director-General of the Headquarters Bureau of Areas, was appointed to head the UNRRA Temporary Delegation to Poland whose task it was to negotiate a formal agreement with the Provisional Government, to set up a permanent mission, survey conditions within the country, and assist in computing its relief needs. Due to lack of transit visas the delegation did not proceed to Poland until July 1945, at the time of the establishment of the Provisional Government. In September 1945 Menshikov had completed arrangements for the signing of the agreement with the Polish Government, and Headquarters proceeded to establish a permanent mission.

Mission staff arrived in Warsaw in mid-October. Its first major problem was lack of sufficient personnel, the reason being that Menshikov had promised the Polish Government that the Mission staff would not exceed 30 in number. In addition, Menshikov had agreed not to establish any regional offices. Limitation on Mission staff were later removed and it was also agreed to establish six regional offices which were set up in January 1946 in Katowice, Krakow, Lodz, Poznan, Gdynia and Warsaw. A seventh regional office was opened at Stattin in September 1946 when that port was opened to traffic. At the peak of operations in the second half of 1946 the Mission was just adequately staffed with 162 Class I and 260 Class II employees (i.e. locally recruited).

UNRRA's main point of contact with the Polish Government was through the Bureau of UNRRA Affairs which was originally formed on the arrival of the Temporary Delegation by the Ministry of Navigation and Trade. Other ministries also had coordinating committees for preparing preliminary supply requests; these requests were always screened by the UNRRA Affairs Bureau as well as an inter-ministerial sub-committee and, finally, by the Council of Ministers. The UNRRA Bureau served as a clearing house for all major policy questions concerning UNRRA. Other ministries with which UNRRA dealt also maintained their own offices for day-to-day business in their particular fields.

The first shipments of supplies arrived in the summer of 1945 through the port of Constanza on the Black Sea, crossing Romania, Hungary and Czechoslovakia by rail. In September of 1945 the Polish ports of Gdynia and Danzig were opened and the time consuming overland haul was dispensed with.

UNRRA's programme to rehabilitate Poland was vast. It spent $477,927,000 and delivered 2,241,889 gross long tons of supplies. In dollar value this was the largest European country programme.

The organizational scheme of the Polish Mission followed in general the pattern established in the earlier UNRRA missions. The Department of Transportation was, however, uniquely in Poland, headed by a Deputy Chief of Mission, separated from the Supply Department, and responsible to the Chief of Mission. Within its jurisdiction fell water and rail transport supplies, supervision of UNRRA port offices, and the arrangements for supplying other UNRRA countries with such indigenous Polish commodities as coal. The Department of Supply was responsible for the distribution of all other supplies. In addition to the distribution responsibility, the Department of Supply was in charge of the agricultural and industrial rehabilitation programmes.

The Polish Mission was closed on 30 June 1947.

AG-018-027 Sweden Mission 1944-1949

Scope and Content

This Sub-Fonds consists of the following series: S-1404 Swedish Mission (1945-1946)

Administrative History

An invitation was extended to UNRRA on 8 February 1945 to send an expert on Displaced Persons to Sweden to discuss the form that Swedish Relief should take in this field. The Administrative Council of the European Regional Office sent an investigatory mission to meet Mr. Ekeberg, the Chairman of the Royal Swedish Commission for International Relief, who had been responsible for the invitation.

On 1 May 1945, a firm offer was made through Mr. Ekeberg, whereby Sweden would accept 10,000 Displaced Persons, transport them from Germany to Sweden, give them temporary asylum, hospitalization, and convalescent treatment. Headquarters, Washington, was informed on 28 May 1945 of the successful completion of negotiations by ERO and was requested to cable Mr. Ekeberg on 30 May 1945 formally accepting the offer. UNRRA provided a team of 31 people to deal with the registration of the selected Displaced Persons. The operation began 23 June and was completed 25 July 1945. The duties of the team leader were:

- a. to maintain liaison between the Royal Swedish Commission for International Relief and ERO regarding the transfer of the Allied Displaced Persons from Lubeck to Sweden, and
- b. to discuss any other matters affecting collaboration between UNRRA and the Swedish Government, or other Swedish Agencies and to report on such discussions to ERO.

It was agreed that a liaison officer should remain in Sweden. In June 1946 UNRRA decided that the retention of an officer in Sweden was no longer justified because repatriation had continued steadily by direct negotiation between the Swedish authorities and the governments concerned. There had been few administrative duties and no operational work, and so on 21 August 1946 the UNRRA representative was withdrawn and an association which had lasted some fourteen months was concluded.

AG-018-028 Switzerland Mission 1944-1949

Scope and Content

This Sub-Fonds consists of the following series: S-1405 Switzerland Mission (1943-1947)

Administrative History

Since Switzerland adhered to a policy of strict neutrality in the War, the Government considered that it could not become a member of UNRRA nor recognize that organization officially, because it was formed by a group of belligerent powers. The Swiss authorities indicated in May 1944, however, that they would be glad to receive an American private citizen and assist him in transacting business with which UNRRA might entrust him.

The staff of the Switzerland Mission remained very small and it was located in offices provided in the Palais des Nations in Geneva. Its functions were quite limited, since Switzerland was not a receiving country and made only one minor official contribution to UNRRA. The Mission concerned itself primarily with liaison between UNRRA and the Swiss Authorities, the League of Nations, and various international and Swiss voluntary organizations. The Mission also collected and reported information concerning relief activities in Switzerland and data concerning various types of relief supplies procurable from private sources in Switzerland. It also assisted in the recruitment of doctors and nurses for UNRRA, and the shipment of relief supplies (particularly medical and veterinary supplies) from and through Switzerland, and in making the necessary administrative arrangements and official contacts for persons holding UNRRA fellowships to study in Switzerland and for UNRRA staff members in connection with the Fifth Council Session and the Meeting of the Preparatory Commission for the International Refugee Organization.

The work of the Mission was concluded and its office was closed as of. 31 August 1947.

AG-018-029 Trieste Port Office 1944-1949

Scope and Content

Sub-Fonds consists of the following Series:

S-1409: Office of the Yugoslavia Mission Representative

S-1408: Office of the Czechoslovakia Mission Representative

S-1407: Office of the Austria Mission Representative

S-1406: Trieste Port Office

Administrative History

The Trieste Port Office was established in May 1946 to co-ordinate the movement of UNRRA supplies with the allied military authorities in control of the port. The head of the office, acted as Chairman of the UNRRA Port Committee, which was composed of Port Officers of the UNRRA Missions in Austria, Czechoslovakia and Yugoslavia attached to Trieste (and responsible to their respective Mission Chiefs), together with representatives of allied military authorities, shipping and railway companies, the Austrian, Czechoslovak and Yugoslav governments, and the local police. The Chairman's functions consisted of representing UNRRA with the military authorities, expenditure of freight and handling charges, and advancing to the Mission Port Representatives their budgetary needs. He was responsible to the PRDG's Office in London. For a period in July 1946, some of the operations were carried on from the port of Venice owing to labour difficulties in Trieste.

In September 1946 the Chairman was given greater control over the Trieste operations and was recognized as the Chief of the Trieste Port Office, with responsibility to the Chief of Supply in ERO.

The Office was closed on 31 August 1947, but reduced operations were carried on by the Office of the UNRRA Agent.

Scope and Content

Administrative History

The Mission was established in Washington in January 1946. After a period of delay and the appointment of staff including a Deputy Chief for Supply, the Mission reached Kiev on 20 March 1946.

Unlike most other recipient nations the Government of the Ukraine negotiated all their requirements through their representatives in London and Washington. The Mission therefore had no part in the procurement programme. The functions of the Mission were to receive and obtain receipts for supplies, to keep the Government informed of the status of shipments, and to observe the distribution of supplies. They attempted to secure adequate publicity for the program, arranged for Julian Bryan and Peter Hopkinson to make a newsreel film, and assisted visiting newspapermen and UNRRA officials. All direct distribution was carried out by the Government, and liaison with the Mission was through V. V. Khomyak, Chief of the Department of UNRRA Supplies attached to the Council of Ministers. Nikita S. Krushchev was Chairman of this Council (Prime Minister) at the time.

The Mission was organized as follows:

Chief of Mission

Deputy Chief for Supply

Agricultural Rehabilitation Specialist

Industrial Rehabilitation Specialist

Medical Supply Officer

Clothing, Textiles and Footwear Branch

Food Supply Branch

(Port Officer)

Chief of Finance and Administration

Although the staff was small, they expedited the transfer of $189,000,000 worth of goods to the Ukraine.

Over 16 reels of motion picture film taken by Julian Bryan and Peter Hopkinson in the winter of 1947 of Ukraine Mission activities have been transferred from the Archives Section to the Film Footage Library, Office of Public Information. Selections were edited as The March of Time newsreel, ""The Russia Nobody Knows"", and released in May 1947.

Since there was never any central point in ERO or Headquarters where all problems of the Ukraine Mission could be channeled, many other UNRRA files have pertinent correspondence and reports.

Administrative History

The UNRRA Procurement and Recruiting Office in India was established in New Delhi in December 1945. The title of the office is descriptive of its functions, which were: (1) to procure relief goods against Indian contribution of Rs. 80,000,000 ($24,042,072) to the UNRRA. fund, and (2) to recruit Indian personnel for service with UNRRA. in all theatres of operation. It had been given another responsibility, namely, establishment of liaison with the civil and military authorities in Burma and the Federated Malay States for handling any relief operations which might be undertaken there, but no call in this direction was made on this office. Administratively it was responsible to the Office of Far Eastern Affairs, UNRRA Headquarters, Washington.

The New Delhi office was only procurement and recruiting agency as no relief operation in India itself was undertaken by UNRRA. In the matter of procurement, too, the UNRRA office had no direct dealings in the open market, since the procedure agreed upon between Sayre and the Indian Government required that UNRRA should furnish the Commerce Department of the Government of India with firm requests following which the latter would place contracts with suppliers in collaboration with appropriate governmental procurement agencies. In the matter of recruitment, the New Delhi Office acted as the liaison agency for the Bureau of Personnel at Headquarters.

The New Delhi Office had a very small establishment of a dozen people or so under a Director, and its records were kept as a central file with simple subject classification.

S-1416 India Mission - Procurement and Recruiting Office

Administrative History

The UNRRA Procurement and Recruiting Office in India was established in New Delhi in December 1945. The title of the office is descriptive of its functions, which were: (1) to procure relief goods against Indian contribution of Rs. 80,000,000 ($24,042,072) to the UNRRA. fund, and (2) to recruit Indian personnel for service with UNRRA. in all theatres of operation. It had been given another responsibility, namely, establishment of liaison with the civil and military authorities in Burma and the Federated Malay States for handling any relief operations which might be undertaken there, but no call in this direction was made on this office. Administratively it was responsible to the Office of Far Eastern Affairs, UNRRA Headquarters, Washington.

The New Delhi office was only procurement and recruiting agency as no relief operation in India itself was undertaken by UNRRA. In the matter of procurement, too, the UNRRA office had no direct dealings in the open market, since the procedure agreed upon between Sayre and the Indian Government required that UNRRA should furnish the Commerce Department of the Government of India with firm requests following which the latter would place contracts with suppliers in collaboration with appropriate governmental procurement agencies. In the matter of recruitment, the New Delhi Office acted as the liaison agency for the Bureau of Personnel at Headquarters.

The New Delhi Office had a very small establishment of a dozen people or so under a Director, and its records were kept as a central file with simple subject classification.

AG-018-034 Korea Mission 1944-1949

Scope and Content

Sub-fonds consists of the following Series:

S-1418 Korea Mission - Financial Ledger

S-1417 Korea Mission - Subject Files

Administrative History

The objectives of the Mission were:

- a) To investigate and prepare reports concerning the need in Korea for UNRRA relief and rehabilitation supplies and services.
- b) To conclude on behalf of the Administration agreements for delivery and distribution of the emergency supplies and to deliver these supplies, for distribution by the Military Government of the United States in Southern Korea and of the USSR in Northern Korea in accordance with the agreements.

The UNRRA Mission in Korea was a small organization which was in actual operation for only nine months, October 1946 to June 1947 (total relief programme was budgeted for $1,000,000). However, prior to October 1946, an Exploratory Mission was sent to Korea.

The functions of the Mission were:

- a) To arrange with the U.S.S.R. and U.S. Military Commands, preferably through the joint U.S.S.R.-U.S. Commission, after conferring with the individual Commands, an exchange of letters establishing the conditions of UNRRA operations

b) To assume the responsibility for providing basic supplies necessary to prevent disease and unrest with the Commanders of the two military zones.

c) To make an independent survey of the relief and rehabilitation needs of Korea in view of actual or potential availabilities of goods and services from indigenous sources.

d) To investigate the availability for export of fish and other relief and rehabilitation supplies which might be procured by UNRRA in fulfillment of its programme of operations for other countries.

Although it was decided to close the Mission by 30 June 1947, all the work could not be completed in time.

Arrangements were therefore made with Military Governments of the two Zones to take care of all outstanding UNRRA matters on the departure of the Mission staff from Seoul.

Administrative History

The basic objective of the Philippine Mission was to effect the completion of the emergency operations which had commenced early in 1945 in response to a request for assistance from the Philippine Government.

In June 1945 the Philippine Government was asked to accept a small UNRRA Mission, consisting of a Head, a health expert and a distribution specialist to examine the possibility of further UNRRA aid in health, welfare, displaced persons, agricultural and industrial rehabilitation and to assist the Government in distribution of supplies. Consent was given and the mission was established in Manila on 2 August 1945. Shortly thereafter the Philippine Government established its own Relief and Rehabilitation Administration to coordinate the distribution of UNRRA supplies throughout the Islands. The UNRRA Mission in Manila had, from its inception, proceeded without a specific directive from Washington Headquarters, other than authorizing Gaines to establish the Mission. The directive issued to Gaines as head of SWPAO had placed the Manila Mission under the supervision of that office, presumably because Gaines was serving as head of both offices. However, by mid January 1946, the Manila Office, for accounting purposes at least, had been determined independent of SWPAO since Washington wished to keep direct control over the purchases of Army surpluses made in the Islands.

A new directive issued on 11 June 1946 outlined the functions of this office as follows:

- a) To maintain liaison with the Philippine Government and other appropriate authorities in planning the emergency program of relief supplies authorized by the Administration.
- b) To insure the implementation and to provide for the full and current documentation of any agreements or understandings reached between the Administration and the Philippine Government and, pending the conclusion of any such agreements or understandings, to insure as far as possible compliance with UNRRA policy by the Philippine Government in the distribution of UNRRA relief supplies, particularly in regard to Resolutions 2 and 7 of the Council.
- c) To establish and provide for scheduled operation of a system of commodity accounting for all UNRRA relief supplies placed at the disposal of the Philippine Government, in accordance with directions from the Headquarters Office.
- d) To maintain contact with the military and naval authorities in the Philippines, and with other governmental authorities or voluntary organizations on questions of common interest other than surplus property procurement, and to inform the Administration of any activities of these organizations which may affect the operations or scope of the emergency program.
- e) To arrange for the evacuation from the Philippine Islands of any remaining externally displaced persons in accordance with the policies defined in Council Resolutions and the plans of the Administration.

f) To maintain contact with other UNRRA missions in the Far East on questions of mutual interest.

g) In addition to the foregoing, the Philippine Mission will cooperate with the Area Surplus Procurement Officer on questions that are referred to it by this officer.

The Mission was officially closed as of 30 November 1947. All shipments against the emergency programmes having been completed except for $30,000 worth of agricultural equipment which was turned over to the Philippine Relief and Trading Administration (PRATRA), successor to the Philippine Relief and Rehabilitation Administration, for distribution.

S-1420 Latin America - Procurement Offices

Administrative History

Purpose : The Latin American Missions were established solely for the purpose of procurement of supplies, especially foodstuffs, which were produced in the area.

Organization : In September 1944 Dr. Eduardo Santos of Colombia was appointed to the special post of Deputy Director General at UNRRA Headquarters for liaison with the American Republics. Diplomatic missions, most of them led by Francis B. Sayre, visited each of the Latin American republics to negotiate the contributions and supply procedures with the various governments, after which offices were opened and Procurement Officers appointed, as follows:

- Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, Procurement Officers: Edward J. Bash and later Paul Gordon, November 1944-1947
- Bogotá, Colombia, Procurement Officer: Luis Vial, February 1945-May 1946 (later procurement was handled through the Venezuela Office).
- Mexico City, Mexico, including procurement from El Salvador, Guatemala and Honduras, Procurement Officers: Alfred Pareja and later Ramon Escriba, April 1945-July 1947.
- Havana, Cuba, including procurement from the Dominican Republic and Haiti, Procurement Officer: George Moore, July 1945-July 1947.
- Montevideo, Uruguay, including procurement from Paraguay, Procurement Officer: Wesley Green, November 1945-July 1946 (earlier procurement was handled through the Brazil Office).
- Caracas, Venezuela, including procurement from Colombia, Costa Rica, Ecuador (later handled from the Peru Office) and Panama, Procurement Officer: Luis Vial, May 1946-March 1947.
- Buenos Aires, Argentina (non-member state), Procurement Officer: Wesley Green, July-November 1946.
- Santiago, Chile, Procurement Officer: Manuel Crespo, July-November 1946.
- Lima, Peru, including procurement from Ecuador, Procurement Officer: Manuel Crespo, November 1946-July 1947 (earlier procurement from Ecuador was handled through the Venezuela Office).

Operation and administration of the Latin American Procurement Offices was under the control of the Division of Procurement Coordination of Headquarters Bureau of Supply.

Functions : The function of the Procurement Offices was to make arrangements for delivery of supplies to countries requiring them. In most cases supplies and financial arrangements were negotiated through Mixed Commissions, composed of two government officials and the Chief of the local UNRRA office. Information on UNRRA activities was generally handled by government agencies, while recruitment of Latin American personnel was generally undertaken in the United States. Argentina was not a member of UNRRA, but made two substantial donations of wheat (one a direct gift to Italy) which were shipped and warehoused by UNRRA.

Closure of Missions : Closure of the Latin American Procurement Offices was commenced towards the end of 1946, being undertaken by staff sent for the purpose from Headquarters, and was completed in October 1948.

Administrative History

The South West Pacific Area Office (SWPA) was established to serve two main purposes: (1) to formulate and carry out plans for the relief and rehabilitation operations which were undertaken by UNRRA and (2) to procure relief and rehabilitation supplies in that area and to help in the recruitment of qualified personnel for service with UNRRA.

Policies and plans for relief throughout the Far East were laid down by the Committee of the Council for the Far East (CCFE) which met at Lapstone, near Sydney, in February 1945.

The SWPA office was established in Sydney (Australia), on 3 December 1944, and covered the area of East Indies, the Philippine Islands, New Zealand, the Islands of the Eastern Indian and Western Pacific Oceans, Thailand, French Indo-China, Malaya and Burma. Branch offices were also established in Manila (Philippines) in July 1945, Melbourne (Australia) and Wellington New Zealand) in December 1945. Frank S. Gaines was appointed Director of the SWPA Office in December 1944 and in May 1946 he was replaced by Major General H.H. Cannon, who, in turn was succeeded by H.H. Wiedersehn in April 1947. The SWPA office closed 30 June 1948.

The functions of this office were as follows:

- (1) To obtain information with regard to conditions in liberated and occupied territories in the South West Pacific Area and to formulate plans for the Administration's activities in those territories and to make recommendations to the Director General for their implementation;
- (2) To maintain liaison and to negotiate such agreements and arrangements with the appropriate military authorities in the South West Pacific Area as necessary for the planning and conduct of relief and rehabilitation operations in that area;
- (3) To develop working arrangements for the utilization of contributions of member governments;

- (6) To maintain liaison and cooperate with civil and military representatives of the Australian and other member governments, particularly governments of territories in the South West Pacific Area which had been liberated, as well as with representatives of intergovernmental agencies;
- (7) To cooperate with voluntary relief agencies all over the world as well as agencies within the South West Pacific Area and make arrangements for their participation in relief and rehabilitation operations; and

Administrative History

The purpose of Hawaii Office was solely for procurement and transfer to UNRRA of United States Government surplus property located outside the continental United States, and services performed in connection therewith.

The Office was established in the Surplus Property Office of the U. S. Department of the Interior, Honolulu, in January 1946. Office space, equipment, personnel, and transportation were supplied by the U. S. Department of the Interior, while U. S. Navy radio facilities and Army courier services were employed to assist the clearance of available supplies.

Functions were:

- a) To secure funds to procure U. S. Property, and the related services, pursuant to Sections 201 and 202 of the UNRRA Participation Appropriation Act of 1945, and such other funds as were made available by the U. S. Congress; and
- b) Make arrangements for delivery of supplies to countries where these were to be used.

In February 1947, when the UNRRA programme was almost complete, surplus disposal functions were transferred from the U. S. Department of the Interior to the War Assets Administration (WAA). WAA supplied offices and equipment until the closure of the UNRRA Office in June 1947.

Administrative History

The Historian's Office originated in the appointment, on 6 September 1943, of Dr. Grace Fox as Historian of the Office of Foreign Relief and Rehabilitation Operations. Her functions were primarily to prepare chronological account of the development, origin, authorization and administrative structure and to keep a library of such records as may be of historical value at a later date. Dr. Fox moved to UNRRA on 1 January 1944, and the Historian's Office was made a part of the Repots Section of the Secretariat. It later became a separate Section in the Secretariat, and on 16 December 1946, was made a staff office responsible to the Director General. Meanwhile, on 1 September 1946, Dr. George Woodbridge had been appointed Chief Archivist and Historian, with Dr. Fox remaining as his Deputy as Headquarters Historian.

The chief function of the Historian's Office was to prepare the official history of UNRRA, which was later published (Woodbridge, George, and others: "UNRRA, The History of the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration", Columbia University Press, New York, 1950, 3 vol.). The final writing was done at Headquarters by a small staff of historians under Dr. Woodbridge's direction, but the preliminary collection of material extended over several years and utilized the services of many officials in all parts of the organization. Historians were appointed in the European Regional Office and in several missions, while in others the responsibility for compiling historical materials was assigned to records or document officers or other officials.

A most important step in preparing the official history was the writing of a series of monographs on the work of individual administrative units. Written sometimes by the historians but generally by the executive or operating officials most familiar with particular subjects, these monographs were a basic source of information for the Historian's Office. The authors were encouraged to write freely and frankly, under assurance that their personal views were considered of great value even where, for a reason or another, they did not coincide with the official position of UNRRA. While the official historians leaned heavily on these monographs, they naturally include a great deal of material that did not appear in the published History. Thus they constitute a most useful source of nearly all aspects of the work of UNRRA.

It must be emphasized however that the monographs themselves were not intended for publication, and that they must be taken only as subjective, personal accounts of their authors, and not as official reports.

It was recognized that, in addition to preparing the official history, the Historian's Office should necessarily have the collateral function of collecting and assisting in the creation and preservation of records and documents of historical significance. An attempt was made to compile a historical file for this purpose, and card indexes of important correspondence and memoranda were maintained. Historians often attended staff meetings and policy questions as observers, and they conducted and recorded special interviews with high-ranking officials to secure historical material.

In the early months of 1944, the Historian was briefly in charge of the organization central's files, and the Historian's Office continued its efforts to encourage the establishment and maintenance of systematic and complete files throughout the organization. As archivist, the Chief Historian had responsibility for determining the classification and necessary disposal of field records with a view to historical records requirements.

Maintenance of the Headquarters central files early became the responsibility of the Bureau of Administration, however, and on 4 April 1947, Mr. Arthur A. Leavitt was appointed Archivist for the purpose of planning and organizing the collection, appraisal, and weeding of all UNRRA records. On 16 October 1947, he became Chief of a Records and Archives Branch and Mr. Woodbridge's title was changed to Chief Historian.

The Office of Historian continued until the UNRRA liquidation period, and on 1 September 1948 the remaining staff was transferred to the United Nations. The history was completed and published under the administrative supervision of the United Nations, and the staff was terminated by the end of 1949.

Scope and Content

Administrative history: The Chinese National Relief and Rehabilitation Administration (CNRRRA) was formally established 22 January 1945. Predecessor: UNRRA China Mission, established on 9 November 1943 (along with numerous other country missions). Successor: The Commission on Rehabilitation Affairs, established November 1947.

Series consists of 607 photographs taken by a variety of UNRRA photographers, for the UNRRA Visual Information Office, Washington, D.C. Most have a corresponding original negative (numbered C-1 etc.). Description/arrangement is according to the subject categories (by country, and therein by themes) which were set up either by the UNRRA Visual Information Office or the UN Department of Information. Series transferred to the United Nations Department of Public Information, Visual Information Section, by agreement of 10 March 1947. Description includes photograph negative numbers. Negatives are arranged in number order rather than by country.
